Dear Dr. Osborne:

Both Anne and I were pleased to have you and the other gentlemen as our guests and we sincerely hope that something really beneficial will come of the meeting.

Please let me make a couple of suggestions.

First, the approach to local school officials for their assistance in making the proposed test should come from you or some other person or foundation from outside Eastern Kentucky. A local person, such as myself, can encourage local officials to be helpful but the first letters should come from elsewhere. I think the best counties for the purpose are Elliott, Leslie and Clay. I believe the school superintendents will encourage full participation by school children and their elders.

Secondly, in your approaches to the school superintendents no mention should be made of "intelligence test". It would be better to speak of "aptitude measurements" or "skill potentials" or of other similar qualities.

I believe Wendall Butler, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will assist us if approached properly and in the terms indicated.

Very sincerely yours,

Harry M. Caudill
